

Steps towards visualization

NB: you need to have already installed the softwares and editors needed for this lecture. In case you have missed this step, you find the instructions here (VeSSDPH_Softwares_TextualScholarship.pdf).

Part 1: save the appropriate files in the relevant directories

1. Download the dedm.xml, dedm.jpg and dedm_config.json files from this folder.
2. Open the evt2-beta2 folder (which you have previously unzipped and saved on your Desktop).
3. Save the dedm.xml file in the text folder, following this path: evt2-beta2 > data > text
4. Save the dedm.jpg file in the images folder, following this path: evt2-beta2 > data > images > single.
5. Save the dedm_config.json file in the config folder, following this path: evt2-beta2 > config

Part 2: Visualization through Visual Studio Code

1. Open Visual Studio Code
2. File > Open > Open Folder > evt2-beta2
3. Check that the relevant files (dedm.xml, dedm.jpg, dedm_config.json) are in the appropriate folders (see Part 1)
4. Open the dedm_config.json file, select and copy its contents.
5. Paste the contents on the config.json file in the same directory (you overwrite it).
6. Click on “Go live” (right-bottom corner) and enjoy the visualization!

The .xml file for this lecture was created on the basis of the .xml encoding of the Digital Edition of the Devisement dou Monde (Burgio, Buzzoni, Simion, eds.), published here:

<https://edizionicafoscari.it/it/edizioni/libri/978-88-6969-872-9/>; in particular, we reused the text of the critical translation (Ch. 63, trad.xml) and the lists of Places, Peoples and Realia used in the project (realia.xml). The source files were downloaded from the Edition main page: <https://edizionicafoscari.it/it/edizioni4/libri/978-88-6969-872-9/marco-polo-le-devisement-dou-monde/#evt-content>.

The manuscript image comes from the Bodleian Library MS. Bodl. 264, pt. III, folio 218r. The manuscript contains a copy of the Fr redaction of Marco Polo's Devisement dou monde (Burgio, Simion 2025: 347) and the image depicts Marco Polo leaving Venice. The image was retrieved from <https://digital.bodleian.ox.ac.uk/objects/300f251d-1d9e-4212-b8e0-1a483bb26c43/>.
